Deepest Sympathy

Past Ongerup resident Rose Green passed away last week at Mandurah. Rose and Ron (dec.) ran a machinery/ car dealership and workshop in Ongerup for many years and then went on to be school bus drivers for some time. Deepest sympathy to Rose's family and friends.

WA's deadly speeding culture must change

RAC is urging Western Australians to use Global Road Safety Week as the catalyst to change their attitude towards speeding.

RAC General Manager Corporate Affairs, Will Golsby, said WA has a deadly culture of speeding which must be broken to stop serious and fatal crashes across our State.

"Last year, 195 Western Australians were killed on our roads, with one-third of those crashes being due to speeding," Mr Golsby said.

"Many WA drivers are of the opinion that sitting a few kilometres over the speed limit is acceptable; however every time you exceed the speed limit, even by five kilometres per hour, you're doubling your risk of being involved in a fatal or serious crash."

Research has shown the risk of being killed or seriously injured in a crash doubles for every five km/h above 60km/h. A car travelling at 65 km/h is twice as likely to be involved in a serious crash as one travelling at 60 km/h; and for a car travelling at 70 km/h, the risk increases fourfold.

"Five kilometres per hour may not seem like a lot, but what drivers fail to remember is that increasing your speed increases the amount of time it takes to come to a complete stop once you brake," Mr Golsby said.

"For instance, if a driver travelling at 60 kilometres per hour brakes suddenly, they will travel 38.9 metres before stopping. Another driver travelling at 65 kilometres per hour will travel 43.4 metres before stopping.

"If another car, or a pedestrian or cyclist, pulls out 40 metres ahead of both those drivers, the one travelling at 60 kilometres per hour will stop before hitting that car; however the car travelling at 65 kilometres per hour would hit the car at a speed of 30 kilometres per hour. [1]

"You're in control of the speed you drive, but you're not in control of the consequences of your decision.

"While speed cameras are a powerful deterrent, RAC is calling on WA drivers need to take more responsibility for their attitude towards speeding, so we can make a shift in our speeding culture.

"The mindset of WA drivers and what we deem as acceptable must change," Mr Golsby said.

"Sitting a few kilometres over the speed limit is not acceptable. Speeding because you're running late is not acceptable. And thinking a car crash 'will never happen' to you is definitely not acceptable."

THE BOOK CLUB REVIEW FOR MAY 2017

BLOODLINES BY NICOLE SINCLAIR

Beth is thirty-one years old and trying to leave her past behind. A terrible break up has seen her flee to the family farm in wheatbelt Western Australia but her wise Dad, Clem, thinks she needs to go further away: to Papua New Guinea. Despite her reservations, Beth soon finds herself living on a remote island, working alongside her aunt at the school she runs. As she adjusts to life in a different land, amidst a very different culture, she also reflects on the events which have brought her here. Running alongside Beth's story is the story of her mother, Rose, who met and fell in love with Clem when she moved to Western Australia but who died when Beth was a child. Clem's story, both before and since, is also gradually revealed.

The Verdict

May chose this book: Monday night saw 8 ladies with two apologies meet at May's house. Of the 8, two of us had not read the book. I personally just couldn't get into it. The girls that had read it thought it was interesting although the story didn't peak just flat lined. Everyone enjoyed Rose and Clem's story and felt it could stand alone. Took quite a while for the story to get around to the terrible thing Beth had done and when it was revealed it wasn't that terrible. It was agreed that it was the first time any of us had read about Papua New Guinea. Some found the Pidgin English annoying and others interesting. We felt the title and the book cover gave a false impression and the story was not what was expected. Overall this book rated 7. Thank you May for a lovely night.

June's choice is Marnie's.

Boxwood Weekly Wrap: Round 3

Brought to you by the 'Boxwood Bugler'

The Bombers hosted the Jerramungup Sky Rats down at Roo Paddock stadium (stadium is a loose term these days after Centennial "stadium" was named so).

The B grade was a mighty struggle in a low scoring affair. The Bombers prevailed by 4 points after a late goal square stampede where half the team had a dig at kicking the winner, like it was footy trip and there was one girl in the bar. Good to see some of the magpies boys in the red and white. Few time trials Will Bungey and you will have a league spot in no time.

The bombers were up and about after opening the season with two W's. 2007 was the last time Boxwood prevailed over the sky vermin to the north. John Howard was in his final year as PM and four of the lads lost their v**** that very same year. Well done boys. ( it was about time Stiffy).

Al "sharpening steel" Smallwood was tuning the boys up in the change rooms before the game. No ear was immune to the rev up. Hoping to avoid another sloth on rohypnol like start.

Bombs away. The boys were kicking to the Death Valley end into a slight Bacardi breezer. First quarter was a tough affair. Few big hits and a hotly contested ball.

Jerry opened the scoring with a quick goal. A few veins popped in Al's neck. The Bombers quickly responded when Wade Brown checked the spice rack for the nutmeg and Junior "veteran" Davis slotted a goal. Here is a great rice pudding recipe Wade if you want to use that nutmeg:

<http://allrecipes.com/recipe/24059/creamy-rice-pudding/>

Jordie "yeah nah yeah nah maybe" Mcalister was a notable inclusion for the Sky Rats. He spent most of the preseason dodging offers from OFA clubs. Something he has been practicing after the cheaper than second hand smoking hit he got in last years EFL grand final.

A notable omission was 28 time Ganzer medal winner Brent "can you please fix Boxwood - Ongerup Road river crossings" Bailey.

The second quarter was more of the same for the Bombers. Many avenues to goal up there. Todd " dog 5, race 8" Rettalick slotted a ripper from some crumbling brilliance, while Mike "general" Swarbrick was simply untouchable. Most of the lads slotting multiple six pointers. Brad "full plumage" Peacock was throwing his body round in the guts like Glen throws punches. Wade "rice pudding" Brown was not taking things lying down after a high fend off from a sharp limbed Vaux, Rice shook him like a nearly empty sauce bottle. Kim "long hair is in for millennials" Brown was seen looking in the car park for his head band after a bomber cheaply threw it away when sulking from a late hit.

The final term saw the Bombers turn on the after burners and the turbulence was too much for the Sky Rats as we kicked eight goals to one. Unsubstantiated reports are that Al allowed himself to crack a smile at this stage.

Big hole Brooks was nicely curtailed by the likes of the Bencubbin fireball Ryan Gobbart earning himself players player this week.

Final Score:
Bombers 17.11 (113)
Sky Rats 3.12(30)
