Messina and Saline Pastures

Field Walk

Despite the wintery conditions, North Stirlings Pallinup Natural Resources held a successful field walk near the intersection of Tie Line Road and Mindarabin Road, Mindarabin, on Monday 19th September.

The new annual legume messina has grown on even the most saline conditions at the site, up to 400 mS/m.

The participants remarked on the large number of nodules on the messina plant. The selected 'special' rhizobia is salt-tolerant.

Balansa clover and lucerne as well as messina have been strategically seeded according to soil type at the site. The legumes will produce nitrogen to encourage growth of the tall wheatgrass, puccinellia and Italian ryegrass. We did not see any seedheads of sea barley grass, which previously dominated the site.

NSPNR would like to thank the participants for braving the weather to walk the saline pastures trial. Thanks to South West Catchments Council for their support, and to Summit Fertilizers, Ballard Seeds, Seednet and DAFWA.

“more than just fertilizers”

I run on-farm trials to get local data to calibrate and validate recommendations.

As well as a trial at Greenrange, we have a couple of trials in the Cranbrook area in 2016.

Added to this a lot Fuel Gauge strips which provide real-time, specific and local response information for in-season nutrient decisions.

It's all part of the experience that makes Summit a supplier of “more than just fertilizers.”

This trial highlights the need to adequately supply potassium to a growing crop.

Talk to me about your soil analysis needs.

Make sure your crops make the best of every season.
