Free Support for Separated Dads and Separated Mums

Lifeline WA's Separated Parents program is a unique service that provides support to mums or dads and their children for separation or bereavement issues.

This free service is available to anyone in regional WA by video call or over the telephone.

With a good internet connection and access to a computer, tablet or mobile phone with camera, microphone and speakers (or headset) a video call can be accessed using the WA Health Telehealth Service.

Our counselling team provides face to face and telephone counselling and group workshops for parents who want to:

- Receive support for bereavement or loss
- Negotiate shared care arrangements for their children.
- Communicate effectively with the other parent.
- Be prepared for mediation and to better understand the mediation process.
- Understand the complexities of the Family Court and the legal system.
- Access practical and emotional support and assistance.
- Create a parenting plan designed specifically to meet the needs of their children.

Lifeline WA does not provide legal advice but we can supply information on how to access legal advice where needed.

For more information or to book a video call or telephone counselling appointment:
