Museum Bus tour

Last Sunday 16 people jumped on the museum bus tour and headed off to enjoy a day exploring the southern reaches of our area. The first stop was Nowanup where Eugene Eades showed the group around and explained the aims and purpose of this important cultural site. We moved further south to the new Red Moort Centre that has been established by Bush Heritage for environmental research and accommodation and is part of the Gondwana Link properties.

Coordinator Simon Smale gave us the history and future for their centre and their properties. We then moved up the road to see some of the amazing revegetation that has covered over past cleared areas and has now become home to some small furry creatures and birds. Thank you to all helpers who provided morning smoko at the museum and to our speedy bus driver who took us on the grand tour.

The sunny day was enjoyed by all.

Yongergnow events

Another busy week at Yongergnow - we hosted two fabulous workshops raising boys and raising girls. Hosted by Holly Beeck and funded by Relationships Australia these workshops explored developmental stages, current and future care issues and importance of self care. Friday saw the WIFE group attending a Lincolns information session centred around employment, a very useful session covering HR, wages, contracts, liability and other topics to make sure we are compliant with the current award system.

Friday night saw a pop up movie theatre in the pavilion complete with a pizza van to keep those tummies happy. A large happy group watched the Lion King on a pop up screen that had to be moved indoors due to the freezing weather. Thankyou to everyone who supported our events. Lots more exciting events coming up.

Watch this space to find out what is happening next.
