Women in Farming Enterprises Ongerup 2020 President's Report

October was the final Ongerup Women in Farming Enterprises meeting for 2020 and capped off a year like no other. With 31 financial members, Ongerup WIFE has remained the largest branch within the WIFE network, servicing women from Ongerup, Jerramungup, Bremer Bay, Wellstead, Borden Gnowangerup, Pingrup, Nyabing and everywhere in between.

February the AGM was followed by a course on Microsoft Outlook and time management which was hosted by Lincolns and run in conjunction with the Ongerup CRC.

March members met for a "Back to Basics" (where members share tips and ideas centred around WIFE core areas including management of office, income, finance, risk, staff, home and families). The March meeting had a focus on OH&S and members shared their experience with different systems and procedures.

April social distancing laws prohibited face to face meetings which led to our first ever online Zoom meeting. The meeting was joined by members at home and Thelma Jaekel and Jane Looker from Sound Life Financial Services who presented a range of financial planning topics including investments, superannuation, retirement, boarding school fees and personal insurance.

May another Back to Basics reflected on seeding and lessons learned from the first year of compulsory Single Touch Payroll. Discussions revealed great interest in the different software available.

June meeting was held in conjunction with WIFE's webinar on grain marketing with Mae Connelly from Farmanco and covered market updates, price variations, selling strategies and swaps.

July meeting was postponed until August, where Ed Riggall from AgPro Management presented the Branch's inaugural livestock day. His presentation was open to any aspect of sheep that members wanted to discuss and covered topics including feeding rates, fat scores, breeding and much more. It received highly positive reviews from members and another livestock day will be considered for next year.

September Kyran Brooks from Foreman Rural returned to facilitate our second agronomy field walk. This year focussed on wheat and covered a range of areas including plant development, chemical and fertiliser use, disease, frost and soil constraints.

Additionally, in September WIFE held its first Regional Rendezvous in response to the Annual Seminar being cancelled earlier in the year due to COVID-19. The events were open to all members to attend presentations from multiple guest speakers at either Kulin or Kojonup.

The year finished with the final Back to Basics in October to discuss harvest, reflect on 2020 and plan for 2021. After discussion, topics that will be considered for next year include:

- Farm safety and the new legislation
- Insurance (understanding different types, what is and isn't covered and what to look for)
- Agronomy field walk and trial site visit (focusing on canola or barley)
- Livestock day incorporating either a stud visit or wool tour
- Processing and analysing yield data to make informed decisions
- Power BI (connecting various programs together to interact and improve efficiency e.g. linking accounting, paddock planning and GPS software)
- Business performance analysis and benchmarking
- Farm security
- Regenerative Ag (an introduction)
- Presentations on emerging business software
- First Aid

For more information on Women in Farming Enterprises or becoming a member for 2021 please contact me on 0427561209 or email ongerup@wife.org.au. Sally Carpenter.

POSITION VACANT

The Yongerghnow-Ongerup CRC is inviting applications for the position of

Administrative Assistant Part time – 13 hours/week
