BIRD TALK

Kenny and Valentine are now official members of the Yongergnow family. Our youngest malleefowl were banded yesterday by Rick Dawson, an experienced volunteer of the Australian Cockatoo Specialists group, helped by Erin Clitheroe, Conservation biologist. Rick and Erin were in the area to band 18 cockatoo chicks and decided to offer their services to Yongergnow as well. Valentine, now banded with a white ankle bracelet, and Kenny, banded with a light-blue ankle bracelet, are the latest addition to the Yongergnow family and are the successful outcomes of our zoologist's incubation project. They are now 10 months old and looking for a partner.
