August 22nd 2024

COMMUNITY NOTICES

ONGERUP MUSEUM CATCH-UP: Tuesday 27th August – I would like to invite you to have a look around at the Museum in preparation for the Spring season visitors. There are a few jobs I won't be able to get done myself, so would like some help. Also this day would give those interested time to look around and see what we have to offer at the Museum. I don't mind if you aren't interested in giving some spare days, it would be nice to show the locals around our great collection. But also it would be helpful if we could get a few more volunteers, especially people that are interested in trying to keep the Museum open. I'm very keen to have some offers from townies that could open up at other times for the odd visitors that come through, as we only have Jenny Ireland and myself at present and we are not always here. See you anytime after 9 am Tuesday 27th. Vicki O'Neill 0428 282282

KIDS CLUB

A big thanks to Emma for running Kids Club this week. We celebrated book week with some literacy games like scrabble, tell me a story, celebrity heads with Disney movies and Bingo with Dr Suess characters. We even went on a literacy walk to find rhyming words, things two and three syllables long, items starting and ending with certain letters. After winning some facepaint from our games, some of us decided to turn ourselves into characters from inside out!

Some history we have at the museum – written by Ella Mattner

In March 1964 there was another new land release in the Ongerup area. Ella and Harold Mattner got the map out to look to see where Ongerup was! Then decided to apply and later received notification that they were successful. So packing up with 4 small children, Jenny, Beverly, John and Peter, and the challenge of Ella driving across the Nullabor from Lara Bay, South Australia, with Harold following in the truck loaded up. The first people they met in Ongerup were Mr & Mrs Ken Spragg, the local Bank Manager who offered them a caravan to live in out on the Block, as there was no house yet. Next visitor greeted them with “G’day I’m your neighbour Digger Weir. Welcome to the West. Hello kids, do you like jelly beans? This is a damn windy spot with no shelter. I’ve got a patch of salmon gums down the road, what about moving the van down.” A short time later Digger turned up with a tent saying “You’ll need a bit more space than a van with four kids, and what about a Thunder Box!!” and in no time a hole was dug and tarpaulin put around some trees! So farming in Ongerup began, the older children started school in Ongerup. A small cottage was built, although very small, Ella thought it was a castle! They managed with kero fridge and lamps until they got a 32-volt power plant, then she got a washing machine. Even had hot and cold running water by then end of the year. First year farming was very wet and they spent many hours getting out of the bog.

The year before son Peter went to school Ella started up a playgroup which later became a kindergarten, then Mrs Pam Calderbank, then next Mrs Rosemary Day took over as teachers. The Headmaster of the Ongerup school then approached Ella to start teaching at the school. Ella taught during the time of no computers, calculators, children were supplied with half a pint of milk each day, no photocopiers – but a Gestetner duplicator, the change from pounds, shilling and pence to metric currency, the man walking on the moon. The Mattner children joined in the cubs, guides and brownies. Ella stayed teaching at the Ongerup School for 7 years. Signed off in 1973 and afterwards started working at the Ongerup Co-operative store and worked there for 15 years.

When their son Peter was ready to run the farm Harold and Ella retired to Albany. Ella and Harold later moved to Perth and after Harold died, Ella spent her last 5 years living with daughter Jenny.

N.B. These are excerpts from Ella’s extensive notes of their days in Ongerup. Anyone wanting to read more of the Mattners’ history get in touch with Vicki at the Ongerup Museum 0428 282282
